

The Friends of the Pleistocene camp site will be at Yaqui Wells Campground, Anza-Borrego State Park. The campground is located just north of highway 78, and just west of route S3. Proceed to the intersection of Hwy 78 and S3, go north on S3 towards Borrego Springs for 140 m (that's 480 feet for less technical types), and turn left on a dirt road into the Yaqui Wells camping area. The main FOP headquarters will be in a fairly large open area on the left, about 490 m (1600 feet) down the dirt road. Camping is in any of the many designated camping areas (open dirt areas adjacent to the main dirt road), but please keep your vehicle on or immediately adjacent to the dirt road. You can also camp farther into the brush if you want to carry your gear.
